Vice-Principal

Message

I suppose for the experienced principal, an annual message must become an increasingly difficult task as he tries to find a new theme each and every year. Fortunately for me, I am not in that position: you have given me my message which is simply this: The name Forster Collegiate symbolizes a proud and enthusiastic student body.

Last September, I made great demands of you - in short, I challenged you to make Forster the best school in the city. Your response was overwhelming.

In Athletics our teams exhibited a burning desire and drive which captured the loyalty of our entire student body and community. Special mention, must of course, be made of our football team which gave us our best record ever.

Our Drama Club, despite the tremendous handicap of a poorly equipped stage, put on two excellent displays of its talent.

Our newly formed Dance Committee made the name of Forster and fine dances synonymous.

Our Band not only won additional fame for itself, but for the City of Windsor, with its Expo and other performances.

Who can forget our Fun Days? Dress Up Days? Victory Parades? Chocolate Bar Drive?

Most important of all, your sense of citizenship - commented upon by so many of our neighbours - made every member of the Staff proud to be associated with this school.

So, students of Forster, I salute you. You have indeed made this school the best in the city. Lets keep it that way.

FIRST ROW: Brenda Simpson, Helene Zolna, Lesley Yared, Greer Gilliard, Marion Murray, Cheryl Wilkinson. SECOND ROW: Maria DeMarco, Ginny Gray, Marilyn Mazzali, Lary Allen, Bruce Pearson, Jeanette Murray, Pat Moore, Ann DeMarco.

The trials which we face day by day, individually and together, signify this generation and its search for an ideal. Growing from our spirit, our participation but most of all from our education, we have gained knowledge of the world which we are about to enter and someday lead. The trials, victories, defeats and compromises all make up our search. We have only begun our search, it will be completed only when a new generation has taken our place. Before finding our ideal we will grow and mature. This "Spartalogue" is a record of a year of searching, a year of growth and the development of a generation facing a common goal.

THE DAY OF 13 B

The morning breaks; the sound of Gabriel's (Bob L.) bugle resounds through the corridors. Our fearless leader (Mr. Freeman) gallantly enters to find our 13B knights (Dave C., Bill D., Steve S.) are all serving our Lady Godiva (Greer G.) mounted on our brave steed (Allan H. with modifications). On the other side of the chamber our Queen of the Amazons (Lesley Y.) is served by her most faithful slave (Jim A.).

Our dragon killers (Pat J., Brenda S., Jeanette M.) more commonly known as boy chasers then enter to douse the fire and class gets underway.

Marilyn M. and Margery P. never fail to add some speck of life to our usually snoozing French class and Rick A. is seriously thinking of becoming a professional student. Could you imagine our Chemistry class without Iain Walker playing his practical jokes and Mike C. and Richard S. are going through for nuclear scientists I am told.

At noon our 13B band, composed of Craig L., Helene Z., and Paddie M. with lead singer Ellie G. play to an uneducated audience of 13A students. That's always fun.

After lunch in English, every one wonders the same thing "Where is Larry A.?" No one seems to know but eventually he shows up. And then Physic's where no one will forget the Xmas card to Mr. Gessel signed "Our Bill".

Of course our class isn't complete without mention of Bob Hayes or Mike O. whose spelling antics (Guire for Greer) brought raves from our critics (Thelma E., Ted G., and Dave F.)

Many people this year have made resolutions like:

- 1.) The DeMarco's have promised to distribute their marks so everyone can pass.
- 2.) Dennis L. has promised to grow up in Physics
- 3.) Gary H. has promised not to say "What did you get? Oh I got it wrong" in math.
- 4.) and Fred U. has promised to apply for the tallest midget of the year award.

So, farewell to Forster from all the students of 13B.

11D

In 1966 there came to be
 A class they called 11D
 There were very few boys, which was quite a trick
 Len, John, Vince and Dick
 Now Len and Dick were always on the beam
 And Vince was our contribution to the football team
 With just these few males I guess it was fate
 But John Rittinger was always late
 And Judy Campbell is our poet
 She likes to let Mr. Kuntz know it
 Helen LaParte's our mathematician
 And Dagmar Fisher is our beautician
 Lynn Griffiths is our Yoga expert
 And explained to us of how it hurts
 Then there's Jill and Judy our style swimmers
 Here's just part of the story as you can see

10/Chaos

The most anti-teacher, anti-homework, anti-school bunch of thugs in Forster High are the anti-students of 10/C (CHAOS). With a reputation for being the outspoken, rulebreaking specialists of Forster, CHAOS does not miss an evening without having a minimum of five members day-dreaming in room 208 for forty-five minutes. All being very good friends (?) of the vice-principal, CHAOS is talked about incessantly by teachers who call them chaff (worthless matter). As usual there are a few heads (addressed as "browns") with marks too high to count. But the ruthless ones usually stomp them to death in their efforts to try and detour paper airplanes - in the direction of the teacher. Of course there are "nice" females in CHAOS.

Hmmm - Hmmm!

By two CHAOS finks.

10E'S RECIPE FOR A "PERFECT GIRL"

At 300 degree temperature, take a large quantity of Kathy Butler's personality, and let it come to a full boil.

Add a cup of Judy Plotnik's figure and one tablespoon of Dawn Thibert's eyes. Mix this with a teaspoon of Marg Senay's nose. Stir well and add Doreen Tunk's lips. Stir these ingredients carefully and strain in Pat Allen's long blonde hair. Results: a sweet, fresh, "Perfect Girl".

HOW DO I LOVE THEE

How do I love thee? In a hundred ways!
With life's each moment through the hours of days,
With all my soul, my breath and all my heart
I know not of its end, nor, of its start.
I love thee with the pride of righteous kings,
The happiness of rushing mountain springs,
With eagerness the morning sun awakes
And tenderness the early blossom breaks.

How do I love thee? As the eagle soars!
With passion, breakers meet the rocky shores!
Warmth and devotion, fireside ambers glow,
With gentleness, the summer breezes blow.
I yearn tomorrows and exult today
Yet, hesitate to part with yesterdays.
With a desire I knew not heretofore
So do I love thee, dearestonly more!

Peter Kuzyk.

SOLUS

The wind blew about the sun
And ruffled the lad's fair hair.
He ran down the beach in fun,
Not committed to hate and care.

His cheeks showed the blush of youth
And his smile held love divine.
He laughed as he ran down the beach,
As he ran down the sands of time.

He followed the path of the future,
As the sun moved aside and fell.
He ran from his friend behind
And came to a sudden hell.

A cloud stood still in the bleak,
As it cast a shadow of Fate.
He ran through the alley of Hope
And into the path of Hate.

The streets were paved with sin:
Prejudice hid the sun.
A black voice yelled, "Let me free!"
And the battle had begun.

They fought for equal rights,
The black against the white.
They contradicted all
That God had said was right.

A white man cried, "My brother?"
And spat into his face.
He knew the breath of life
Had formed a parted race.

The small lad turned away
And ran back to the sun.
He tripped along the sweating beach,
Where dark and light were one.

He danced along the surf,
As he joined his friend once more.
They laughed with one another,
As they skipped along the shore.

They joined their hands together
And friendship held them tight;
Hands that knew no cruel,
One black and one white.

THE MUSHY WORLD OF JOE CITIZEN

The recent success of Batman, The Green Hornet, and the other products of our affluent society is a poignant and frightening example of just how petty, apathetic, timid, and generally ignorant of important things Joe Citizen has become.

He believes he is holding back Communism, and is a hero to the underprivileged because he pays his taxes, always without question, and votes for the Honest Party, supported by his People's Union. He retains, however, the masculinity of his forefathers. The after-shave he uses is the most masculine brand he knows of, Pine-Scented Lily-of-the-Valley. As the Sexy girl says, he uses Skwish to plaster his greying hair over the bald spot between his ears.

Joe is not only a masculine figure, but an intellectual one, too, which is a quality unique to only him and seventy-five per cent of the adults in the Great Society. He has a constant, and up-to-date opinion on the world situation, conveniently and weekly expressed for him by Lifeless Magazine. Joe is an avid, and perceptive, reader who shakes his head sympathetically where it is appropriate and chuckles at the cartoons. He gains "scads" of authoritative information by reading the boldface captions above the stories, written for crackerjack minds like his so that he need not waste valuable time on the next five pages of writing.

Joe has an average wife. Bertha belongs to the P T A and the Committee Against Smut in National Geographic. His only son, Joey Junior, is quite different and above the average riff-raff who parade shamelessly around the town after the street lights go on and complain about the trivial problems of the other third of the world who are starving. Joey spends quiet, proper evenings at home every night, and usually sits by the fish tank reading Better Homes and Gardens, occasionally glancing at the picture of his two best, and only, friends, Freddy Fink and Peter Useless, and sucking his thumb.

Joe is the man to whom ads are addressed, for whom books are written, and, he is also the man who rules this land. In his petty little world of the P T A and status symbols, he has forgotten how to use his mind. His thoughts revolve around his little family triangle, and the earth-shaking choices of T V programs, deodorants and prolific fatherly guidance for Joey Junior. With a conscious effort, the coagulated cranial area of Joe Citizen could again resemble that of the men who fought for and believed in their own ideals.

But Joe would indignantly ask why; he is quite content in his little world because he votes for the Honest Party, and his leader says that he is happy and courageous, and mermaids and demi-goddesses recommend his hair cream, his after-shave, and his margarine. It is a vicious circle because for anyone to recommend a course of action would be to cater, in a small way, to Joe's need for assurance that he is right. He must wake up and see the world for himself, with no reassurances or recommendations from anyone. If he does not, we will soon live in the most affluent vegetable patch in history.

THE BAND'S TRIP TO EXPO

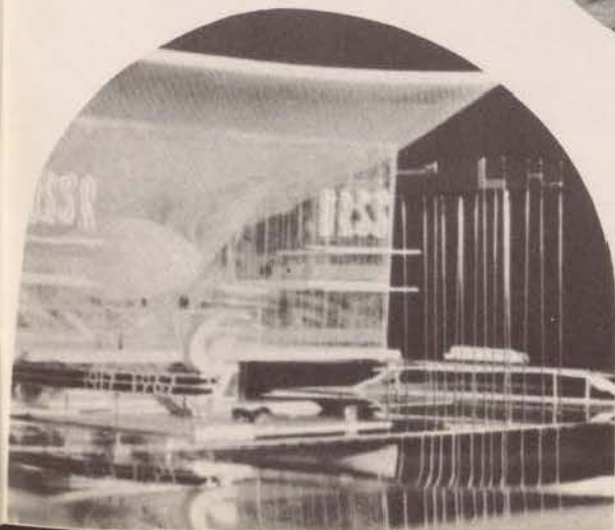

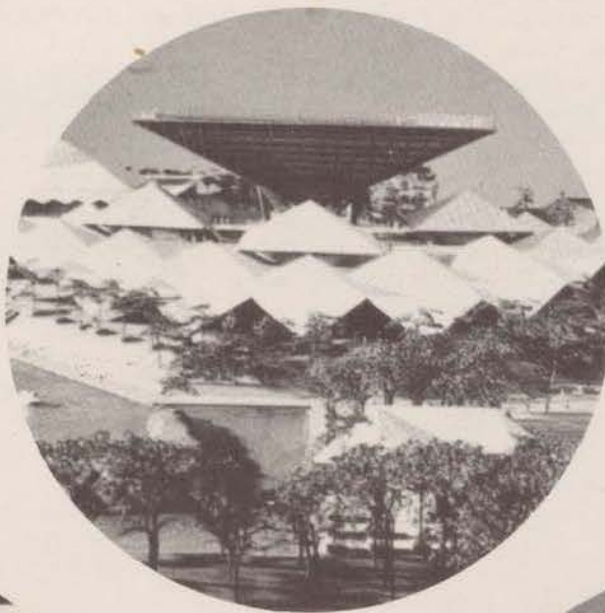

It took Canada 100 years to become the great nation that it is but only took the Forster Band 7 years to reach the level of musical perfection it has now attained. We, at Forster are proud to have been chosen to represent Windsor at Expo.

Twelve thousand dollars were necessary to finance the trip and to raise the sum, a Parents' Committee, A Teachers' Committee, and a committee of band members was formed. With the help of the students the successful chocolate bar drive netted $4,500. The Parents' Committee, through various efforts have amassed $4,500, including a $1,500 grant from the City of Windsor. The balance of the money has been raised through the sale of records and band concerts.

At Expo, we performed at the Russian, American and Canadian Pavilions. The trip was well worth the time and work involved in financing it for our band was well received.

Thanks are in order for those who supported our cause through donations, purchases of bars, records and tickets to the concerts and hard work. Special thanks goes to our director Mr. Gerenda, without whom the trip would have been impossible.

Drama

After the fire had destroyed a great part of the interior of the Drama Club's facilities the members put in long hours in an attempt to regain their former stability. Backstage crews, set, make-up, costume and publicity crews put the club back into a position in which it could present this season's plays with a rather remarkable degree of quality.

Under the direction of Mr. R. Beattie, the club has reached a certain degree of professionalism and is rather disappointed at the thought that next year, Mr. Beattie will be in Toronto teaching a 5 year Theatre Arts Course.

But the work of the members should hold good for some time unless we receive a visit from another arsonist. For those who didn't come - there must be someone who did - we presented The Chalk Garden with Carol Graham, Helen Trotter, Nancy McLaughlin, David Rutherford, Brian Atkins and Christine Henderson and The Teahouse of the August Moon starring Brian Taylor, Dwight Seigner, Bonnie Lee, Brian Atkins, Paul McLister and Tom Bryceland.

Sweetheart Prom

The evening of February 11, was chosen for this year's Prom. The theme was reflected in the gym, which was gaily decorated with cupids, hearts, and flowers.

The couple attending mirrored the beauty and gaiety of the surroundings. Jim Askin, the first-term chairman of the Dance Committee escorted Lesley Yared. Both school presidents attended - Bruce Pearson escorted Marion Murray and David Doidge accompanied Pat Janisse. The convenor of the prom, Greer Gilliard, was also present with her escort Brian Thibert.

Each grade 12 and 13 class had elected a representative to be their candidate for "Sweetheart of the Prom". The highlight of the evening arrived when last year's queen, Martha Elgar, placed the tiara on the head of Jeanette Murray. Following the crowning was a dance in the honour of the new queen and her princesses - Hilda Watkins and Claudette Frenette. The attendants in her court were Lyn Swanson, Sharon Doan, and Nancy Drake.

The Prom Committee was pleased that its hard work paid off in a very successful Prom. It would not have been a success, however, without the help of Mr. Nicodemo, Mr. Heaton, Mr. Landale, Mr. Loughheed, Mr. Krol, Mr. Crowther, and Miss McIntosh.

Getting your driver's license makes the whole world a brighter place to live in.

You can move.

Without pestering Mom or Dad to drive you.

Without depending on anybody else.

But now a lot of other people are suddenly depending on you.

Not for rides (although you like the feeling when you give somebody a lift).

But for their lives. And their property.

So don't take chances. Don't try to prove anything when you drive - except that you are qualified to do it.

In every way.
